Planning for the Health of Wales

One Day Conference

Thursday 28 October 2010

Dylan Thomas Centre, Swansea

10.00 am – 4.00 pm

£40 per delegate – includes lunch and refreshments

The Chartered Institute of Environmental Health in Wales and the Royal Town Planning Institute in Wales (RTPI Cymru) have teamed up to organise this joint seminar drawing together professionals with the common goals of delivering a healthy Wales.

The conference will discuss issues where health and planning can work together. Issues include area renewal, the impact of noise on health and how this can be planned out, the practical application of health impact assessments and how to tackle the health effects of climate change.

Who should attend?

- Planners working in the public and private sector
- Environmental Health Practitioners working in the public and private sector
